He has been elected as Member-at-Large of the Executive Committee, Captain General, Assistant Governor General and now Governor General – more General Society Offices than any other member in our 115 year history.

Bruce is the author of Mayflower Families, Volume 4 – Edward Fuller, and served as Congress Planning Chairman at four General Congresses.

After he retired as a jewelry manufacturing company executive, he worked part time for his home town as the Main Street Manager, working with 200 small businesses, and, among other things, organizing award winning street festivals on Main Street. He is now writing a column on historic houses in his local weekly newspaper.

He is a past president of the R.I. SAR, Colonial Wars and Huguenot Societies, and a member of the R.I. Founders and Patriots and the SR.

Bruce and Kate, his wife of 39 years, are the parents of Douglas and Alison, both members of the Rhode Island Society.
